

HAPPY VALENTINE'S DAY, ROCK POINT SCHOOL

It's that time again when we gather round,
And with our love for you make a poetic sound

We moon and swoon and get all rhymey
We get down on our knees until they're grimey

We look into our hearts at the affection there dwelling
Which is often the source of all our kvelling

About RPS students and parents and babies and dogs.
If we listed all that we loved about you, t'would burst the catalogues

This is the day when Cupid's arrows take aim
Inspiring even old enemies to set down their blame

Macs and PCs will walk down the aisle
Prosecutors and defense attorneys will hug after the trial

Coke vs. Pepsi: long gone are their rivalry tales
Instead, they're taking out ads wishing each other high sales

What can we do but join them in getting all cheesy?
So here are loving couplets that we hope won't make you too queasy

We've jetted to Britain and hired a lorry
To carry all of the love that we have for you, dear Rory

Look over there; it's tons of new free snow
For boarding galore for our good friend Yukiko

A scarf for winter warmth decorated with your name in italics
We hope will keep you cozy in our love, sweet Alex.

A three-story-high heart we're building brick by brick
To call attention to our love for you, Isaac

If we weave twizzlers into large hearts, could we possibly own ya?
Because you've already fully captured our hearts, Miss Sonja

We'll try to jump start the economy like Boris Yeltsin
By buying gifts galore for our Valentine Nelson

An adorable puppy, mischievous and wily
We'll adopt for our super sweet dog-lover Riley

Enough candy to fill the whole Burlington area
Would hardly be enough to show our love for Valeria

Heart-shaped crepes from the most famous French chef
To say joyeuse saint-valentin à toi, cher Jeff

A quiet walk in the woods while it's sunny and snowy
We would all like to take with our Valentine Chloe

Boas with feathers, and all things glamorous
To adorn you, we've gotten, dear sweet Amaris

We would build a holy city that we hope would equal Mecca
To show appreciation for the goddess among us: Rebecca

We'd host a rap concert, the campus filled to the gate
With music and dancing and laughter for Tate

From the latin meaning eyelash, the plural is cilia,
And you can find us batting ours at our Valentine Amilia

Boxes of conversation hearts in multiples of seven
Would barely express our exponential love for you, dear Evan

A truckload of Fuego Takis, we hope will not be too weighty
A way to say you've spiced up our lives, dear Valentine Katie

Deep in the forest, under cover of roots there lies a
Buried treasure we will unearth for you, sweet Iza

We've only just met you, yet we already sustain a Great fondness for you, new Rock Pointer Elena

Ours hearts start racing, our faces become all aglow
When we think of Res Eds, teachers, admin, all other staff, and Mo

If we say we have the best pets, does it sound too braggy
To you, dear Bosley, Little Foot, Zola, Libby, and Maggie?

We're huddled together; we're moving forward in scrums
To say thank you to parents, ed consultants, supporters, and alums

Sad, but true—even the silliest of rhymes must come to an end.
Love to hold you through the year, we hope we have penned.
